We Won the Cup

Audio CD Section 3: Expanded Story

(Page 12) May and David are at home on a rainy day. They are brother and sister. It's summer vacation. They are happy because they don't have to go to school, but they are sad because they can't go outside. It is wet and rainy. They look out the window at the gray clouds and the heavy rain. They are very bored. They wish the rain would go away.

(Page 14) May and David are sitting on the sofa in the living room. "I hope it stops raining," says May. "Why?" asks David. "I have an important soccer game this afternoon," she says. "Why is it so important?" "We're playing against Northcliff in the Cup Final," May answers. The Cup Final is the most important game of the year. The winner is the best team and gets the cup.

(Page 16) May goes to her bedroom and brings back a soccer ball. "I need your help," says May. David looks at his sister. "Will you pay me to help you?" he asks. May shakes her head. "No, silly! We need an extra player on our team. One of our players hurt her leg and cannot run," May answers. "You want me to play with a bunch of girls! No way!" David does not want to play soccer with girls.

(Page 18) May stands up and looks out the window. She asks her brother again. "Oh, please, David." David just smiles and shakes his head to say no. "There is no chance of me playing soccer for a girls' soccer team. Soccer is a girls' sport." "Boys play soccer, too. Please David!" David is holding his baseball. "I'm sorry, but I like to play baseball. That's a boys' sport."

(Page 20) May sits next to her brother on the sofa. She's holding her soccer ball. "I think you are afraid to play soccer with girls," says May. David looks at May and says, "Me, afraid! I'm not afraid. I just don't like to play soccer. It's a girls' sport." "OK, David," says May. "We'll play with ten players then. Just wait and see, you'll be sorry."

(Page 22) May is excited. It is not raining now, and she has an important soccer game to play. She starts to get ready for the soccer game. She puts the soccer ball in her bag and finds her soccer uniform. She has a yellow soccer shirt, blue shorts, and yellow socks. She just needs her soccer shoes. She has a new pair of shoes, but where are they? She finds them near the front door. Now she's ready to go.

(Page 24) David doesn't want to stay inside. He wants to go out. David wants to play baseball with his neighbor, Alan. He's looking for his baseball bat, but he cannot find it. David never puts things away, so he often can't find his things. "Mom! Where's my bat?" he asks. "I don't know," she answers. David's mother doesn't play baseball, and she doesn't have his bat.

(Page 26) David starts to look all over the house. He cannot remember where he put it. David looks behind the sofa in the living room, but it's not there. He looks under his bed in his bedroom, but it's not there. He looks in the cupboard in the basement, but it's not there. He looks, and looks, and looks. Finally, he finds it behind the kitchen door. Who put it there? But he's happy to find his bat. Now he is ready to go. Just then, the doorbell rings.

(Page 28) David opens the door. There's a boy wearing a baseball cap and a baseball glove. It's Alan. He's David's neighbor, and the two boys are good friends. "Are you ready to go?" asks Alan. "Yes, let's play ball," says David. Alan looks at David. "Is your sister coming to play with us?" David shakes his head, "No, she is a girl. She's going to play soccer with her friends. Soccer is a girls' sport. Let's go!" The two boys walk to the park.

(Page 30) The rain has stopped and the sun is shining. It's time for May to go to the game. She puts on her soccer uniform and calls her mother. "It's time to go, Mom!" She looks great in her yellow shirt, blue shorts, and yellow socks. "OK, dear," says Mom, "I just need my keys." May gets her shoes and walks to the car. She is feeling a little nervous.

(Page 32) May and her Mom drive to the park. When May gets to the soccer field, she sees her best friend, Jade. They are both wearing their beautiful team uniforms. They put on their soccer shoes, and carefully tie their laces. "I'm nervous, Jade. How about you?" asks May. "A little," says Jade. This is an important game, and the girls want to do well. The girls are now ready for the game. They run onto the field and take their places.

(Page 34) All the players are ready. Peep! The whistle blows and the Cup Final begins. The players kick the ball, pass the ball, and head the ball to each other. Everybody wants the ball. "Don't touch the ball with your hands!" shouts the coach. It is a hard game. Both teams play well, but May's team only has ten players.

(Page 36) At half time the score is 1-1. May's team has one goal, and Northcliff has one goal. It is a very exciting game. The players take a rest and drink some water. In the second half the players play well again. Both teams have good chances to score a goal. Two minutes from the end, Jade passes the ball to May and May kicks it past the goalkeeper into the goal. May and her teammates jump into the air. Well done May!

(Page 38) Peep! The whistle blows! The final score is 2-1. May's team has won, and May scored the winning goal. "Hooray! We won the cup." May and Jade hold up the cup for everyone to see. The coach is happy. May's mother is happy. The players are all happy, too. They are the champions. "Just wait until David sees this cup," says May. She wants to show her brother that soccer is not a boring girls' sport.

May. The players all say goodbye to their teammates and to the Northcliff team. When May gets home she runs into the house. "Look, David! We won the cup." David looks at his sister. She's holding a beautiful, shiny cup. "Wow! That's great, May." "Thanks. I scored the winning goal." "Really! My sister is a soccer star. Next time I will play with you. Soccer is not a girls' sport. It's a cool sport. Well done."

Up and Down

Audio CD Section 3: Expanded Story

(Page 46) Last week, Nick got some money for his birthday. He and his sister Mary went to a department store because he wanted to buy some toys. They don't go shopping in a department store very often, so Nick was very excited. There was so much to see and Nick was looking up, down, left, right, here, there, and everywhere. "The toys are on the sixth floor," said Mary. "Where are the elevators?" asked Nick.

(Page 48) The arrow started to flash and the bell went 'Bing'. The doors of the elevator opened. "Let's take this one! It's going up," said Mary. "Wow! Look at all the people! It's almost full," said Nick. There was an old lady, a young man, a boy, a young woman with a baby, and lots of other people. Nick and Mary are not very big so they squeezed into the elevator. The doors closed and the elevator went up.

(Page 50) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the second floor. The doors opened. It was so full of people. The young man got out. He was wearing a cool shirt and a pair of sunglasses. "Why is he wearing sunglasses?" asked Nick. "It isn't sunny." "Shhh!" said Mary. "Don't ask silly questions." The young man walked into the men's clothing department. The doors closed and the elevator went up.

(Page 52) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the third floor. Teenage clothes are on the third floor. The old lady got out at the teenage fashion department. She used a walking stick and walked very slowly. "She looks really old!" said Nick. "Why is she getting out here?" "Shhh!" said Mary. "Don't ask silly questions." Mary didn't want the old lady to hear Nick's question. The doors closed and up went the elevator.

(Page 54) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the fourth floor. The boy got out with his mother. He had very long hair like a girl. His mother took him by the arm. He didn't want to go with his mother. "Why does he look so unhappy?" asked Nick. "Shhh!" said Mary. "I said stop! No more silly questions!" The doors closed and the elevator went up.

(Page 56) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the children's department on the fifth floor. The elevator is not so full of people now. The young woman got out with her baby. Her baby was in his stroller and he was crying loudly. "Why is that baby crying so much?" asked Nick. "Shhh!" said Mary. "I said stop! No more silly questions!" The baby's mother was not very happy because her baby was too noisy.

(Page 58) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the sixth floor. The elevator doors opened. The sixth floor is the toy department. "This is where we get out," said Mary. "Great," said Nick. "Look at all the toys. Can we go and look at the computer games?" It's Nick's favorite place in the department store. "OK! Let's go!" Nick ran over to look at the computer games. He wanted to buy a game for his computer.

(Page 60) Nick was so happy to see all the computer games. He looked at the car games. He looked at the sports games. He looked at the puzzle games. He looked at all the games. Mary doesn't like to play computer games but she waited with her brother. Nick could not decide which game to buy; he liked all the computer games. Mary waited a long time. Then finally, Nick picked up a computer game. "I want this one," he said. "At last!" said Mary.

(Page 62) Nick and Mary walked over to the counter. The lady put Nick's computer game in a bag. "That's fifteen dollars, please," said the lady. Nick took out his money to pay the lady, and he looked up. "I know him!" said Nick, pointing at the television. "He was in the elevator." "You're right!" said Mary. "That's Ricky Dee. I love his songs." Nick paid the lady, and they went back to the elevator. It was time to go home.

(Page 64) Mary was happy to see her favorite singer and Nick was happy to have a new computer game. "Maybe we'll see Ricky Dee again in the elevator," said Mary. "I wish I was a rock star," said Nick. "I could be Nicky Dee." "Stop dreaming," said Mary. 'Bing' "There's the elevator now. Come on, it's time to go home." The elevator was going down. There were not many people in the elevator this time.

(Page 66) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the fifth floor again. The lady with the baby got in. But this time, the mother was in the stroller. She was very tired. The baby was pushing his mother in the stroller. He made his mother very, very tired. "Why is she sitting in the stroller?" asked Nick. "Shhh!" said Mary. "She'll hear you." Everybody in the elevator looked at the baby. What a super-baby!

(Page 68) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the fourth floor again. The doors opened. The boy and his mother got in. The boy's long hair was now short. His angry mother was now happy. She liked her son's short hair. The boy wasn't happy. "Poor boy! What happened to his hair?" asked Nick. "Shhh!" said Mary. "I think it looks very nice." Mary liked the boy's short hair. The doors closed and the elevator went down.

(Page 70) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the third floor. Wow! The old lady got into the elevator in some new clothes. She was wearing a cool cap, sunglasses, a cool jacket, pants and a shirt. "Is that the same old lady? What happened to her?" asked Nick. "Shhh!" said Mary. "She looks so cool!" The old lady was even listening to music with her headphones. She was a very cool grandmother.

(Page 72) 'Bing' The elevator stopped at the second floor. The elevator was full of people again. Ricky Dee ran into the elevator. He was wearing different clothes and he was in a hurry. He didn't look very happy. He wanted to get away from all his fans. His fans follow him everywhere they can. They wanted to take his photograph. "That's Ricky Dee," said Nick. Mary looked at the young man, "Are you sure that's him?" asked Mary. "Shhh!" said Nick. "Don't ask silly questions."

(Page 74) 'Bing' The elevator doors opened. On the first floor, there were lots of people. Ricky Dee ran out of the store. He didn't want his fans to see him. He didn't want them to take his photograph. Nick and Mary got out of the elevator, too. They watched Ricky Dee run out of the department store. "Do you really want to be a rock star, Nick?" asked Mary. "Not any more," said Nick. "Maybe I want to be a movie star."
